

Biography of Brandon Ritchie

Attorney Brandon Ritchie has devoted his legal career to personal injury cases, representing thousands of injured clients in accidents totaling over $20+ million in settlements. He understands the hurdles, financial devastation, and life-changing impact accident victims face. When Ritchie was three years old, his dad was severely injured in an accident, causing his family to lose several family businesses and his athletic father to be bound to a wheelchair.

Ritchie Ritchie Law began helping people who had been injured in accidents and has expanded to helping clients in need of immigration assistance. Brandon Ritchie has been instrumental in implementing an excellent team of talented immigration attorneys and paralegals who have helped thousands of clients with related immigration issues.

His law firm, Ritchie Reiersen Law, has received numerous accolades, including the 2022 Lawyers of Distinction award and the 2022 Best Motorcycle Lawyers in Kent from Expertise.com. Expertise.com reviews the top service professionals in more than 200 industries, including the legal profession, across the United States.

Brandon Ritchie

Built a strong team, helping thousands with immigration cases.

Ritchie Law was founded in 2014 in Kennewick, Washington, and expanded to be Ritchie Reiersen Law when Eric Reiersen joined the firm. The firm has expanded to having over 40 employees and multiple locations including Kennewick, Washington; Auburn, Washington; Yakima, Washington; Tacoma, Washington and Moses Lake, Washington. The practice also has offices in Portland, Oregon, and Twin Falls, Idaho, and does remote work helping clients in Mesa, Arizona.

Brandon Ritchie offers legal counsel in cases involving personal injury from a car, motorcycle, boat, bus, truck, or bicycle accident. His personal injury legal services also include catastrophic injuries, such as traumatic brain injuries (TBI), spinal cord trauma, high-degree burns, and loss of limbs; medical malpractice; dog bites; nursing home abuse; pedestrian accidents; sexual abuse; slip and fall; and wrongful death actions.

The testimonials from clients reflect Ritchie's commitment to helping his clients. For example, one client praised Ritchie, saying, "I called Brandon after I was rear-ended and sandwiched in a collision. My car was totaled on a holiday weekend, but he took my call and started the process for me right away. It was so awesome having someone who had my back to help me walk through everything with the insurance claim – because I promise you, I would have no idea what to do on my own. Brandon and his team answered every question and followed up with me through the whole process."

Immigration Legal Services

In addition to his personal injury legal expertise and services, attorney Ritchie and his team assist individuals with immigration issues, including navigating the process, helping with VISAs to stay in the United States, citizenship, Green Cards, naturalization, and permanent residency. They will evaluate a client's options and the amount of time each avenue of immigration could take, and they are dedicated to helping their clients achieve the best possible outcomes for their immigration needs.

The Ritchie Reiersen team provides assistance with deportation and removal proceedings, as well as defense and asylum protection.

One of Ritchie Reiersen's clients succinctly described his law practice's services: "Multiple family friends have gone through their immigration department services, and several of them have already resolved their concerns, including receiving their permanent resident's card. The first consultation is free, and in that consultation, any doubt is resolved, and a fair quote is given from the beginning. I would highly recommend this firm."

Before starting his law firm, Ritchie was an attorney with Fielding Law Group in Washington State for nearly three years.

Academic Background

Ritchie attended law school at the University of Idaho College of Law from 2008 to 2011 and earned his Master's in Business Administration from Washington State University in 2012.

Before attending law school, Brandon earned his bachelor's degree in Business and Professional Writing from Brigham Young University in Idaho.

Community Involvement

Ritchie's philanthropic endeavors include donating to the United Way and 4-H, a U.S.-based network of youth organizations whose mission is to engage youth to reach their fullest potential while advancing their development. He also contributes to local food drives and youth soccer programs, as well as to Pasco High School and Chiawana High School in Washington State and many other youth programs within his local town.

In addition, Ritchie is very involved in his church and is currently working with the twelve- and thirteen-year-old youth, assisting in weekly activities and weekly Sunday religious education. Ritchie continues to be a contributor to both CARE, which works around the globe to save lives, defeat poverty, and achieve social justice, in addition to contributing to UNICEF, which provides health and nutrition services, emergency response, and early childhood education for millions of the world's most vulnerable children and their families.

A Family Man

Brandon Ritchie has been married for nearly 20 years to Sarah Ritchie, who grew up on a fruit farm in Walla Walla, Washington. They have five children, who are the joy of their lives and keep them extremely busy outside of work.

Brandon Ritchie was born in Rupert, Idaho, and grew up in nearby Burley, a small farming community. There, he learned the value of hard work while working on potato and sugar beet farms and raising livestock.

Ritchie also developed his love of the outdoors in Burley, Idaho. His family often took camping trips and fishing outings, and fishing continues to be one of his favorite activities.

In addition, Ritchie loves sports, particularly pickleball and boating. His favorite pastime is spending time with his family.
