

Marlo Da Motivator

Motivational Speaker, Trainer, and Coach

"Not Impossible, It's I'M Possible"

Marlo experienced and overcame intense trauma as a child, including parental addiction and neglect, early induction into criminal behavior, sexual abuse, drug dealing, and ultimately incarceration. Well in prison, Marlo knew he would not return to that life so he enrolled in several CTE programs as he wanted as many skills as possible before returning home. Once home after much determination he secured employment, and earned five degrees (with one more in progress!). He began giving back to his community as he has dedicated himself to helping others who are experiencing the same hardships he did to succeed against the odds by sharing his life experiences, with infectious energy, optimism and wisdom.

Marlo is TRANSFORMING AND INSPIRING LIVES!

"Marlo Da Motivator's presentation at the TDRC was powerful.

Marlo's presentation had relevant and valuable content. It was gender and culturally responsive as well as pleading to the current population at risk. I would recommend his presentation to other community-based organizations for its reliability and impact."

~ Marica Massa, Program Director Leaders in Community Alternatives, Inc T.D.R.C

"As you spoke, I watched some of my most withdrawn, resistant individuals come to life. The transformations you inspired were a joy to observe. I would recommend you to any group that is searching for an uplifting, motivational, authentic speaker. You have a gift of speaking with passion, power and humor and making your audience feel the genuine hope you have for them. Even more importantly, you instill in them hope for themselves, something that most of them have abandoned."

~ Denise Copeland, Transitional Instructor, Department of Correction and Rehabilitation
