ABOUT RAMONA

KEYNOTE SPEAKER FINANCE & ACCOUNTING TRAILBLAZER

Ramona Cedeno is an accounting and finance expert and CEO of Fibrick, a leading accounting firm for technology companies and small businesses. Her superpower is transforming startups and small businesses into profitable powerhouse companies. Ramona is a CPA, CFP, and CGMA with 20+ years of experience. Before starting FiBrick, she was the CFO of Handy, and an accounting leader at Time Inc. and other Fortune 500 companies. She has guided dozens of technology startups through mergers and acquisitions, funding rounds, and exits. Her love of accounting, finance, technology is rivaled only by her love for empowering others.

She is a proud mentor of the Women Entrepreneurs of NYC (WENYC), a board member of the New York State Society of CPAs, and an advisory board member for New York State's Small Business Development Center (SBDC). Ramona was named a Notable Woman in Accounting and Consulting by Crain's, is on the Board of Directors of the NYSSCPAs and has been featured on Bloomberg and PIX 11 News. She earned a Bachelor's in Accounting from Baruch College, a Master's in Finance from Fairleigh Dickinson University, and a Certificate in Financial Planning from Boston University.

Ramona is the author of the book Simple Choices Big Rewards in Money, a transformation finance book that simplifies the journey to financial freedom for those who seek it. In Simple Choices Big Rewards in Money, Ramona speaks to early and mid-career readers who want to learn how to master money management in a new, simplified, and non-judgmental way with a spice of humor.

Ramona is also the host of the podcast in Great Company which explores discussions with other business leaders to offer fresh perspectives and useful tools to entrepreneurs.
