

TREVEAL C.W. LYNCH

Personal Leadership Coach | Consultant | Mentor | Trainer

ABOUT

By the grace of God, Treveal endured the emotional stress of growing up overweight, stuttering, being bullied, being molested, having no father or mother in the home, becoming addicted to drugs and alcohol by 18, dropping out of college and becoming homeless by 19, a violent criminal by 20, incarcerated several times by 21 and who at his lowest point, with a gun to his head, was willing to give his life for a $120 bag of weed. Today, Treveal is a Husband of 22 years, a father of 4 amazing children, a certified personal leadership coach & consultant, an ordained/associate pastor, international men's mentor, corporate leader, double certified personal trainer, 3x published author, inspirational speaker, podcast host, and business owner with a six figure annual income.

Treveal's life's story exemplifies the radical transformation, sense of self-worth and quality of life that anyone can experience when they learn to see WHAT they truly are! What make Treveal's speaking approach unique is how he helps people level down vs. leveling up. Treveal helps people leverage learning about what they already are to achieve the life they've always wanted. Most messages out there are "add on" focus, Treveal's focus and approach is about stripping away, revealing, digging in and discovering who and what you've always been in order to get what you've always wanted.

Audience members and clients of Treveal gain the clarity, competence and confidence they need and are moved into inspires into action by inspiration to acquire the life they want and the change they desire. His message is a mix of insight, inspiration and instruction centered on the concept of achieving personal development through appreciating personal discovery.
