The vision of leadership permeates the workplace and is manifested in the actions, beliefs, values, and goals of a company's or organization's leaders. This presentation helps company leaders recognize that they can achieve greater when their vision is clear and focused. In his presentation "The Art of Becoming Uncomfortable," Christopher helps identify the three fears that control, confine, and constrict leaders from achieving their vision, dreams, and purpose. Audiences who have been impacted by Christopher's content are more empowered to create the best version of themselves and become purposeful in developing a clear vision and achieving goals. He speaks with passion, guiding his audience to strengthen and elevate their leadership vision to new heights.
